

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Optilan conducts all our business activities in a manner which complies with the laws and regulations of the countries in which we operate and where applicable, to internationally recognised standards including ISO14001:2015.

Where no applicable legislation or standards exist, Optilan operates in accordance with the standards of this Policy.

Optilan provides appropriate resources and actively encourages the participation of our workforce, employees, sub-contractors, and clients in safeguarding the Environment in which our business activities occur.

Specifically, Optilan strives to:

- Provide strong, visible leadership in all business areas in relation to Environmental practices.
- Document roles and responsibilities at all levels of the organisation.
- Prevent waste and inefficient use of resources wherever possible through the adoption of the recognised hierarchy of prevent, reduce, reuse, and recycle.
- Promote energy efficiency throughout all our operations.
- Prevent pollution where practicable by reducing all harmful emissions and discharges to the surrounding environment.
- Procure materials, equipment and services within a framework that encourages environmental stability.
- Protect biodiversity through the effective management of our sites and operations within the countries that we operate.
- Identify environmental aspects and impacts and thus set objectives and achievable targets, which promote and deliver continual improvement in environmental performance.
- Communicate openly with employees and other interested parties likely to be affected by our operations, to promote practices and conditions that support this Policy.
- Identify foreseeable emergencies and their consequences and prepare, test and review emergency response plans.
- Engage with suppliers and sub-contractors who endeavour to promote good environmental practice and management consistent with our approach.
- Achieve continual improvement through a cycle of audit and review, and,
- Periodically review the suitability and effectiveness of this Policy, our management systems, objectives, and targets.

This Policy statement is applicable to all Optilan Companies, Subsidiaries, Branch operations and is available to all interested parties.
